Staff Notes

Every year I enjoy listening to my favorite Christmas song. The Little Drummer Boy draws me deeply into the story of Jesus' birth. The simple lyrics spark my imagination as they paint a picture of a poor boy's encounter with a lowly newborn king and his loving mother.

The young musician seeks out Jesus and offers his most valuable gift—himself. He presents Jesus with a song played on his drum. He plays his best for the baby while the ox and lamb keep time. When the boy finishes playing, Jesus smiles at him and his drum!

The scene is so serene and holy. Its beauty is its simplicity and authenticity. The genuine, pure love exchanged between two poor boys brings me to my knees. I marvel at both the drummer boy's courage and his wisdom to wholeheartedly welcome and receive God into his life and to respond gratefully by giving his most precious gift to Jesus.

I also marvel at both the courage and wisdom of three others, who bring gifts to the newborn king. This Sunday's Gospel (Matthew 2:1-12) tells the very familiar story of the Magi, royalty from the east who follow a star to find the baby Jesus, so that they may pay him homage. The three kings pay close attention to the star that signals a world-changing event. They allow the star to invite them to act and to lead them to the source of that change. They make it their priority to leave their familiar, comfortable world and to venture forth into the unknown.

The Magi experience joy as they focus on the star and follow it with the hope of an extraordinary encounter. When they behold the child and Mary his mother, they respond humbly. They first prostrate themselves, and then open their treasures in gratitude for the precious gift of Jesus. The presents they offer to him are filled with meaning. Gold signifies the royalty of Jesus; frankincense reflects the full divine nature of Jesus, myrrh acknowledges the full human nature of Jesus and foreshadows his death.

The Magi story gifts each of us with a priceless present. The encounter between Jesus the Christ and the Gentile kings heralds marvelous news for all people. This epiphany story frees humankind as only love and truth can. God's love is so great, so boundless, and so inclusive that it simply cannot be contained, controlled or limited to a chosen group. The manifestation of God incarnate inherently invites each of us, personally and communally to not only recognize God's presence within and among us, but to also humbly receive God into our lives and respond in love and gratitude.

Like the Magi and the drummer boy, each of us has a choice to welcome God warmly, and with courage and wisdom offer the best of ourselves to God and each other.

The Epiphany of the Lord

Flu Season and Reception of Holy Communion

There are some simple common sense responses to legitimate worries about liturgical practices during flu season. We suggest the following:

– If you are ill, stay home!

Those exhibiting flu-like symptoms: fever, chills, headache, nausea, cough, sore throat, etc. should stay home! You may participate in the mass remotely, by viewing a televised liturgy. Staying home when feeling under the weather is NOT sinful behavior!

– Sometimes a warm verbal greeting works fine too!

At the Greeting of Peace, in addition to a handshake or a cordial embrace, a genuinely warm verbal exchange of peace is also an acceptable offering of peace.

– We are one in faith whether we hold hands or not.

Though some enjoy holding hands during the Lord's Prayer, it may be prudent during the flu season to refrain from this particular expression of unity.

– Should I drink from the Cup?

Please use common sense in deciding whether to drink from the shared Cup. If you have a sniffle, the beginning of a sore throat, the remaining vestiges of a cold, etc., we encourage you to receive only the Body of our Lord in Holy Communion.

– I've never received Communion in the hand before.

While we respect your preferred way of receiving the Lord Jesus in Holy Communion, we ask you to consider having the Eucharistic Minister reverently place the Blessed Sacrament into the palm of your hand.

If you are a Eucharistic Minister...

– Before and after you perform your ministry, you are asked to use the hand sanitizers now conveniently placed near both sides of the sanctuary steps.

– Ministers of the Cup, are reminded to wipe it thoroughly after each person drinks, and continually to rotate the cup position. Of course, good hygiene is recommended for all. Remember always to cover your cough with the crook of your elbow or a tissue. Avoid the use of hands whenever possible.

These simple instructions will go a long way in keeping the Body of Christ healthy as we continue to receive the Body of Christ.

Saint Edmund Parish The Baby and Toddler-Friendly Parish

You can't be a parishioner of St. Edmund Parish without realizing that a large part of our community is made up of beautiful infants and toddlers. They bring special joy to our worship services. Their joyful noises are welcome as they are a part of our community and we want our children to worship with us!

We know, however, that sometimes it can be a struggle to worship on and give full attention to your children too. Sometimes you just have to get up and move around. Maybe we can help.

◆ The North Transept may be a useful spot.

We want our parents to feel welcome to get up at any point during the mass when their children may need a little extra attention.

At times, a parent and child may only need to take a short walk-about. Taking a quick stroll into the north transept of the church may be just what is needed. You'll be able to see everything, hear everything and at the same time give your child a bit more unrestricted space to move about.

◆ Did you know that there are speakers in the Murphy Hall corridor?

On those occasions when the children need a bit more distance from the worship area, please give consideration to using the Murphy Hall corridor. The speakers allow our parents to walk about with their children and not miss hearing any of the mass, and it gives the children a time to let out the occasional spirited shout without fear of interrupting the service.

If you have any suggestions as to how we can make our Sunday worship even more baby and toddler-friendly, we'd love to hear from you. Just call the parish office at 708-848-4417.

The group meets in Murphy Hall from 9am - 10:30am on consecutive Fridays, unless otherwise announced. All are welcome.
